The Americans are to have the full use of the Juraguá railway which belongs to the Spanish government. The Spanish soldiers are to be conveyed home by the American transports and they will be allowed to take portable church property along. The Spanish are to surrender arms. Two of Them Taken in the Act and the Other Arrested This Morning.

About 10 o'clock last night Ben Long, son of Esq. W. R. Long, passed in front of Petree & Co.'s shoe store and noticed that the grating of the cellar was opened. He reported the circumstance to the police and officers Waddington and Lander stationed themselves across the street and awaited developments.

They had been there a few minutes, when officer Lander concluded to make a reconnaissance. He accordingly entered the open cellar and thence went up to the store room above. He found two negro boys, Lucien Fortson, aged 18, and Walter Washington, aged 12. This morning Jas. Washington, aged 15, known as "Socks," was also taken in charge and lodged in jail. The other boys stated that Socks, who formerly worked at Petree & Co.'s store, was the leader of the gang and told them how to get in. They claimed that Socks paid them five cents apiece to go in and get some shoes of his left in the cellar. Socks does not admit that he was in the cellar, but says he was out of town last night. Later he crossed himself by stating that he dropped a cigarette through the grating and went down it.

Judge Leavell held over all three of them under bonds of $500 each, and they are now in jail to await the action of the grand jury.

The administration has awakened to the danger that Spain may cry for peace before we have taken a single step that will justify us in claiming a title to Porto Rico. So far we have done absolutely nothing that gives us a military or naval possession of that island. Not an American soldier has landed on the island and the flag has never floated over the fertile soil of that Spanish possession upon which the eyes of American people are looking with covetous glances. Action looking to the establishment of a preliminary title is being rushed and the island will be occupied by this time next week.

always on the alert.

These prairies for miles as we approached Denver, seemed like nothing more than a barren waste, interspersed occasionally with a fertile spot. Flowers grow luxuriantly here and also alfalfa grass in portions, on which were feeding herds of cattle and horses. As we reach Denver the country becomes more hilly and broken. Denver itself is a beautiful city of 125,000 population, situated on a level plateau. Forty years ago it was only a rude mining camp. Here in our short stay we met Mrs. Graham and daughter and Mrs. Bell and son. They were pleased with the climate and city.

After leaving there over the Denver & Rio Grande R. R., the great Scenic line of the West, we saw in the distance, though apparently but a few miles off, the snow-capped point of Pike's Peak. The atmosphere is so pure here that distances are very deceptive. We traveled on for 75 miles in the direction of the Peak until we reached Colorado Springs, when it seemed only a few miles off when first sighted. Maj. Pike, who first discovered the Peak, describes it thus: "We saw a light blue cloud, which we concluded to be a mountain. We marched during the entire day with an idea of arriving at the mountain, but at night found no visible difference in its appearance." He then traveled ten days before arriving at its base, and he then attempted to ascend but found he had only ascended Cheyenne mountain, a small adjacent one and became discouraged and wrote: "The summit of the grand Peak, which was entirely bare of vegetation and covered with snow, now appeared at the distance of 15 miles, and as high again as what we ascended, and would have taken a whole day's march to have arrived at its base, whence I believe no human being could have ascended to its pinnacle."

We went over the L. & N. as far as St. Louis, then via the well-known Burlington route to Denver; our stop at St. Louis was brief. The immense bridge there spanning the Mississippi River and the magnificent Union Depot, were the only points of interest we noted. Having passed through the greater portion of the state of Missouri during the night, the next morning found us approaching the Western border and nearing Kansas City, situated on the Missouri River, and having a population of 135,000, a shining example of that splendid pluck, energy and enterprise which is building and shaping the vast empire of the West. We also passed through Hannibal and St. Joseph, both beautiful cities contiguous to fine agricultural country. Through Kansas and Nebraska the farms were in high state of cultivation, harvesting just beginning, being about 10 days later than ours. The farms were beautifully laid off in square sections, but the houses were small, square built structures, and lacking in that grace and elegance of our Kentucky farm houses. Their stables and other out houses seemed more elaborate and tastily built than their residences.

Through these states there were immense expanses of prairie land and scarcely any timber; even the farm houses were devoid of shade. We passed through Leavenworth and Atchison, Kansas, and Lincoln and Hastings, Nebraska. My little friend was disconcerted by observing on our time card, that we reached McCook, a small station on the Border, at 9 p. m., and left there at 8 p. m. She remarked: "Why, we will be left, our train don't get till 9 and the train leaves there at 8." But she was reassured when informed that at that point we changed our time from Central to Mountain. So as the train was approaching the station the conductor informed us that it was 9 p. m. and without stopping there he told us as we emerged from the town that it was 8 p. m. There is one point in mid-ocean where the time is changed an entire day. On the following morning we found ourselves in the bleak plains of Colorado and we amused ourselves watching the immense jack rabbits and innumerable prairie dogs, the latter standing on their hind legs and peering at our train as we sped swiftly by. They live in colonies and at some of the stations their numerous little knolls, thrown up by their burrowing, extended to the depot itself and the passengers would amuse themselves by getting out and trying to pet the little animals, but they are noted for their cunning and were years in building. Also the Bee Hive, the former residence of Brigham Young, and the Eagle Gate are points of interest, also Salt Lake itself where immense quantities of the finest salt are extracted, and on which are located two of the finest bathing resorts in the world, Garfield and Saltair Beaches. The water of Salt Lake is so light that it would be impossible for one to be drowned, so children are perfectly safe in bathing there. They have the largest pavilion in the world, and 1,000 bath rooms.

After leaving Utah we pass through Nevada. Over our route nothing is seen except alkali desert and mountains until we reach California. The drought here for the past year prevents the interior from looking as verdant as usual, but along the Sacramento River and bay immense herds of cattle are feeding, and fruit and vineyards abound. A few hours run from Sacramento brings us to the Golden Gate City, of which I hope to tell you something in the future.

NEGLIGENT DRUGGISTS.

Nearly Half of Those in Small Towns Failed to Register.

The Kentucky Board of Pharmacists has sent notices to the 1,500 druggists in towns of less than 1,000 inhabitants, calling their attention to the provision that they were entitled to registry under the law if application were filed before July 1. Every effort was made to admit everyone doing business on their own account simply by registration, but at this session of the board only 800 petitions were filed. Those who failed to register as required by law will have to pass the examination before they will be admitted to practice pharmacy in the state.

Cost Per Acre of Wheat.

Mr. J. W. Smith, of Glendale, one of the best farmers in Hardin county, has kept a careful account for four or five years of the actual cost of growing a wheat crop. He charges the field with every item of expense from the breaking of the ground until the wheat is in the bin—the cost of the fertilizer, the cost of each day's work on the crop, the harvesting, the threshing, etc. The result of those experiments has shown him that he can raise wheat at an actual expense of $5 per acre. Allowing $3 per acre for rent makes the total cost $8 per acre. Mr. Smith has commenced a similar experiment with corn.—Farmers Home Journal.

According to this, the yield must be, at the prevailing price, about 13½ bushels to pay expenses.

Miss Armstrong, the music teacher, has arrived and is boarding at Mr. W. S. Davison's.

Loving Was No. 13.

The Kentucky Press Association was organized at Frankfort in January 1869 by the election of the distinguished George D. Prentiss as President. The present President, Mr. H. E. Woolfolk, makes the fourteenth President the Association has had in the following order:

1869—George D. Prentiss.
1870—W. N. Haldeman.

1870—J. Stoddard Johnson.

1886—J. W. Hopper.

1888—E. Polk Johnson.

1890—Urey Woodson.

1891—H. A. Sommers.

1892—Chas. M. Meacham.

1893—Sam J. Roberts.

1894—J. B. Nall.

1895—John A. Bell.

1896—Ben D. Ringo.

1897—L. W. Gaines.

1898—H. E. Woolfolk.

The Association has steadily grown through many years and is to-day one of the strongest State organizations in the Union.—Elkton Progress.

Reports which have reached the War Department show that there has been some mortality among the yellow fever cases with Shafter's army. This, however, has been slight, as it is said that up to the present time but five cases have resulted fatally.

The wreck of the Cristobal Colon has been fastened to the shore to keep it from being washed into deep water.

There are rumors that Lieutenant Carranza did not sail with Senator DuBose. It is stated positively that Carranza was impersonated by some unknown person and did not board the ship at Montreal. Where Carranza is now is a mystery.

Miss Clarence Applegate, of Evansville stopped over with Miss Nannie Stokes, last Tuesday night, while enroute to Hopkinsville.—Carlton Bee.

Mr. Vernon Neblett has returned from his vacation spent in Hopkinsville and Springfield and is again at his post at Gerhart's.—Clarksville Times.

PRIVATE BAILEY

Now in the Hospital at Fort Monroe, Virginia.

Mrs. Bailey is Not Certain Now Whether Her Husband Was the Man Shot—Saw it in a Paper.

The question of whether or not J. L. Bailey, of this city, was wounded at Santiago, is still an open one.

A few days ago the KENTUCKIAN stated that Mrs. Bailey had reported that she had been advised by telegram that her husband had suffered the loss of a leg.

This morning the following letter was received from Mrs. Bailey:

Guthrie, Ky., July 15.—EDDIE KENTUCKIAN.—Please correct a mistake that was published several days ago in your paper that I received a telegram stating that J. L. Bailey was shot in the battle of Santiago. The correct way of the matter is this: I saw an account of it in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, that he was wounded in the right leg and have never heard any more from him.

I wish you would advise if he is still alive. I have moved from Hopkinsville to this place and am keeping boarding house in Guthrie.

Very respectfully,

Mrs. J. L. BAILEY.

It was further reported that a soldier with one leg shot off arrived at Guthrie this week, but this of course must not have been Bailey.

In yesterday's papers an account of the arrival of a shipload of wounded soldiers at Fort Monroe, Va., was published. In the list of names appeared that of "Private Bailey," Co. D, 1st U. S. Volunteers. If this man was J. L. Bailey, he is now at Fort Monroe, Va.

The Oldest Brick House.

The Sisters of Loretto, who have their home in Marion county, boast of having the oldest brick house in Kentucky on their premises. It was built in 1814, and is a one-story brick of two rooms. It is preserved with great care. A log house near by was built in 1812 and is also well cared for, a frame having been recently erected around it.

GOT 100 DAYS.

George Jackson Heavily Sentenced For Striking Chas. Brown.

Both are Colored Kids Who Got Into a Row Thursday Evening.

A trial of George Jackson, a small colored boy for striking Charles Brown, another boy about his own age, on the head with a heavy stick, was in progress yesterday evening, when we went to press. It was concluded late in the afternoon and Judge Leavell gave Jackson 100 days in the work house.

Brown was very badly hurt and it was at first thought his skull had been fractured. He remained unconscious for some time after receiving the blow. Brown claims to live in Olmstead and says he is on his way to Henderson to see his brother and stopped over here long enough to get into the row with the Jackson boy.

Given Thirty-One Days.

Walter Sanders, col., was tried by Judge Leavell this morning and given thirty-one days in the work house. He was charged with vagrancy and being a tramp.

Mr. Fulcher's Will.

The Pembroke Review has this notice about the will of the late Jno. W. Fulcher:

"The will of Jno. W. Fulcher, who died some two weeks ago, was probated last Monday in Elkhorn. His wife, Mrs. L. H. Fulcher, was named as executrix without bond. Mr. Fulcher left to the Bethel Baptist church, at Fairview, $2,000 worth of stock in the Bank of Hopkinsville, the dividends of which are to go toward paying the pastor's salary. Also $2,000 to Bethel College and $2,000 to the Baptist Seminary at Louisville. Five hundred dollars to John B. Johnson, his farm of two hundred acres to his brother, Alex Fulcher, at the death of his wife, Mrs. L. H. Fulcher. The rest of his estate goes to his wife. The whole estate is estimated to be worth about $30,000."

Cheaper than "Before the War,"

But still higher in price than anybody's second class stove construction, for the very good reason that quality must be paid for.

DOLLAR WHEAT

Sounds right and we hope our farmer friends will have it, but you don't deserve it if your wife is broiling herself as well as your food, over an old burned-out and used-up cook stove that perhaps never was good enough for the "best woman in the world." That's your wife, is it not? Now bring her here and buy a sure enough, good, guaranteed

Charter Oak.

Don't stop either until you give her a nice little gasoline stove that will keep her temper sweet and make the whole family live longer.

THEY DON'T COST MUCH.

Saving Every day Of its life

And living longer than any other make of refrigerators.

THE GURNEY

makes new customers every season and never loses one. Many reasons are shown why it is the best, but saving ice beats all.

5 CENTS A DAY

off the ice bill pays entire cost of refrigerator in two or three seasons.
